

REMOVAL.

The COURIER office has been removed to the new building, on the south side of Green street, below Third, next to the Custom House and Post Office.

Only Fifty Cents a Month.

The country which the earliest news of the stirring times, can have the DAILY COURIER sent to their address, for a time desired, at the rate of fifty cents per month.

Mr. Crittenden's Propositions Rejected by the Black Republicans!!!

NO CONCESSIONS WILL BE MADE TO THE SOUTH!!

Important Address from Senator Toombs!

The following address to the people of Georgia was telegraphed from Washington City Monday. It is full of importance. We beg our friends in this State to ponder well the facts stated by Mr. Toombs. We must not deceive ourselves. We owe it to our families, to the safety of the Commonwealth, to posterity, and to the world to consider seriously the momentous events now transpiring, with a determination to perform whatever duties they may impose on us, faithfully, promptly, and devotedly.

TO THE PEOPLE OF GEORGIA.

I came here to secure your constitutional rights, and to demonstrate to you that you can get no guarantee for those rights from your Northern Confederates. The whole subject was referred to a Committee of Thirteen in the Senate. I was appointed on the Committee and accepted the trust. I submitted propositions, which, so far from receiving desired support from a single member of the Republican party of the Committee, were all treated with derision and contempt. A vote of the Committee was taken on the amendments to the Constitution, proposed by Hon. J. Crittenden, and each and all of them were voted against unanimously by the Black Republican members. In addition to these facts, the majority of the Black Republican members of the Committee declared distinctly that they had no guarantee to offer, which was silently acquiesced in by the other members. The Black Republican members of this Committee are representative men of the party and section, and to the extent of my information truly represent them. The Committee of Thirteen, on Friday, adjourned. I took with me a copy of the resolutions, and solemnly pledging myself to vote on all the propositions before them that day. It is controlled by the Black Republicans, your enemies, who only seek to amuse you with delusive hopes until your election, that you may defeat the friends of secession. If you are deceived by them, it shall not be my fault. I have put the test fairly and frankly. It is decisive against you. Now I tell you upon the faith of a true man, that all further looking to the North for security for your constitutional rights in the Union ought to be instantly abandoned. It is fraught with nothing but ruin to yourselves and your posterity. Secession by the 4th day of May next, shall be thundered from the battlements by the valiant sons of Georgia on the 24 day of January next. Such a vote will be your best guarantee for liberty, security, tranquility and glory.

R. TOOMBS.

No Compromise—Wade's Speech Indorsed.

At a largely attended meeting of the Black Republicans of Indiana, held at Indianapolis on Saturday night, the following resolutions were adopted by a majority of the leading men of that party in the State, resolutions were unanimously passed, declaring, among other things:

1. That it is treason for the Slave States to withdraw from the Union, and all engaged in any attempt looking to a secession of any State or States are guilty of treason, and ought to be punished as such.

2. That there is "no occasion" for new guarantees to slavery by secessionists or compromisers.

3. That Congress is imperatively called on to pass a law to protect Abolitionists in their attempts in the Slave States to induce the negroes to insurrection, or to induce them to escape from their masters.

4. That the President ought to be impeached.

5. That it is the duty of the Black Republican party to stand up to their principles, and to resist to the death, no concessions, and surrendering no point.

6. That Senator Wade's free proclamation in the United States Senate meets with approval, and a copy of it be sent to each of the Representatives of Congress from that State, for their guidance!

7. That we assure the people of Kentucky, who feel the feeling of the dominant party in the North, that we have no hope for concessions from men so utterly mad.

Dissolution—An Extra Session of the Legislature.

The editor of the Lexington Statesman has been in Washington City for a week or ten days; and what he has seen and heard there has induced him to change his opinion in regard to the propriety of calling an extra session of the Legislature to take into consideration the present position of public affairs. He now believes, what has been apparent to us for forty days, and what we have frequently expressed our opinion that dissolution is inevitable; second, that the Legislature of Kentucky should be convened in extra session. Writing home on the 18th inst., he said:

The impression made by a brief sojourn at the Capital precludes all hope for maintenance of the Union, and the only result of all consultation now going on, is that separation, and the only result of all discussion, is that the Union is dissolved, and the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

It is not thought by the informed that the Union will be maintained, and that the only result of all deliberation, is that the Union is dissolved.

The Policy of the Black Republicans.

To Employ Against the Seceding State.

In dealing with the difficulties between the two sections of the Union, growing out of the war on the property and institutions of the slaveholding States, during the pendency of the Presidential contest, we have deemed it our duty to keep before our readers, as far as in our power, the true state of affairs, "nothing extenuate nor ought set down in malice."

For doing this, some of our party friends have complained of us, because such a course coincided with their ideas of policy, while political opponents have been active in misrepresenting our position, and perverting our language.

Believing that "honesty is the best policy," and confident of the rectitude of our position, we have tarred neither to the right nor to the left, but kept the even tenor of our way, sometimes telling our friends unpalatable truths, and sometimes telling our enemies what we thought they ought to know, and not supposing what it was our duty to make public.

It is with no pleasure that we see, in the columns of the Statesman, an indication of the rapid approach of the worst evils we have been accused of desiring; but we have predicted this, for we prefer to see the truth, than to see the Union established on a reputation for political sagacity; and we refer to these matters now in no boastful spirit, but in simple honesty, and with the confidence that the course we have so far followed, and it may be that those who cried "peace" before there was no peace, will be induced to see the evils they now endure to head the worthy voice of the faithful watchman in time to prepare to meet still greater evils with which the not distant future is fraught.

The following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 18, 1860.

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the Secretary of State, now at Washington on business for the Commonwealth, who has the honor to be addressed, and who has no ground to hope, are strongly contrasted with what we have endeavored to impress on our readers, and we invite attention to them:

THE following address from a sister by the editor of the Lexington Statesman, the

